Impressed!, April 28, 2009
By afucarlson from Pittsburgh, PA

"I bought this little guy on sale to cultivate some previously used spots for tidy gardening. Well, I was so impressed with its performance that I even used it for some tasks above its recommended use guidelines. It worked wonderfully! Effectively broke some new ground in a small, mossy spot in the shade. Creates fine, loose soil and is effective at working in old mulch and new soil. Easy to clean, not too tough to operate, and barely noticeable vibration; no more than using your push mower."

Great for small jobs, April 25, 2009
By felsguy from Beavercreek, Ohio

"This looks like the unit I bought three years ago (and wish I had bought 15 years ago). I carried it up from the basement one handed, started it right up and thoroughly tilled my 700 sq ft garden in about 20 minutes with very little effort. It sure beats loading, unloading, and wrestling with a full sized rental year after year. True, it does put the exhaust right in your face unless there's a breeze out."

Better than I expected!!!, April 22, 2009
By Hookhorn from Hopkins,MI.

"I was doubtful that this little tiller would do what I wanted it to but it sure made the dirt fly. Freshly plowed piece of pasture for a veggie garden the tiller chewed it up. Had to ease it into the sod and the tines clogged up with roots but I expected that. The tines come off and go back on easily to clean it. Lot of power for 32cc."

Wow!, April 19, 2009

By Tractorman1129 from Joplin, MO

"This is the perfect tiller for a small garden or for a previously tilled garden. Light weight, lots of power, and small size makes it a great accessory for any gardener. Also recommend it for mature gardeners who cannot manage the larger full size tillers. This si a very impressive little tool."
